Hello Emnetu T. :)

So glad to hear from you dear Emnetu T. Yes, it has been quite a long time since I heard from you last. Well, well, well - dear Emnetu T. it was with so much interest and surprise that I hurried up to see your website.

Apparently, so much is out there that we don't know about. I never knew you were this active with the Eritrean movement. The Unsung heroes! are people like you! There may be others too - however many, that we may never hear about or from.

Yes, it was a wonderful idea that you finally decided to come out and share it all - for no one will do it for you otherwise. This will hopefully shed some light to all, that there were some real fighters outside the field, who lived and breathed the movement.

Many forfeited their education to earn money and support the movement, and many languished in the prisons of the enemy. Some of us were tortured and bled profusely for the same reason.

The irony of it all is - that we are all forgotten and they are the only ones who fought the battle. They are the liberators and we are the crusaders.

Dear Emnetu Tesfai; I still have to make time and digest it all; but on the outset it is a must visit website. Better yet, I suggest that you write a book about all that you have done and about all the things you know. It is history that must be told. I knew Tsehaie (Dr), Bereket's brother - such a brilliant young man who disappeared long before his time.

BTW: I never knew you were a member of mahber Showate. :) I was too. Debesay Ghebresselasie was my chief and I had seven others under me, until finally I was taken away from my school and put in jail and pictured at that young age.

Besides I was imprisoned and tortured for almost one year in Addis. Will talk more later.

Good hearing from you Emnetu T. and keep in-touch - for I will. BTW; it is well written too - Bravo Emnetu!

Note: please let me know if I can share this with other friends.

Thank you,
Hawka Tesfai Tsehaie.

Emnetu and Family

I am very happy you are all in good situation, because the news about Oslo was frightening.

I have received your Email and we have to continue our contact in order to keep our information updated.

I am very happy you have opened your website, I have visited the website and although I have not completed it, so far I am really impressed with its design and presentation.

All the hard work you have done for so many years is great and the most important thing you have done is also to record them.

Well done Emnetu, your hard work can be good example and I believe that others will follow it soon.

CONGRATULATION

Best wish

I was very glad to hear from you after so long time. I have come to look at your site. It was wonderful.

I was impressed by your contribution to our beloved country. Keep the moral high. Do not expect anything from anybody. The fact that you contributed something should give you satisfaction. Remember that everybody has more or less contributed, with the exception of few. Many have contributed with material at various levels and many more have paid with their lives. That was history of people and not individual. The reward was Independence.

Other rights have to be won through hard work. In time of war, people get together. In peace time, people come with different opinions.

That is the fruit of Independence in my opinion. I stand to be corrected if I am wrong. I have open mind.

Warm greetings to your family and others that ask after us.

Yours,

Bereket Woldeyohannes

Greetings Emnetu!

It was really a great opportunity and a pleasure to talk to you after so many years. I am back home in Houston, USA now and I just reviewed your wonderful website. I saw many people from the good old days and it brought warm memories of our days especially in Menedefer and Gondar.

I also got to learn of the many events you were involved in and it was quite uplifting to realize how much hard work and sacrifice was carried out by you and many of our friends. It is a history you and the family should be proud of.

I was shocked when you told me of the open heart surgery you went through. I hope all that is behind you and you are feeling fine now. Please take care of your self and give warm greetings to your family from me and my family.

Cheers,

Dear Emnetu,

Thank you for sharing your entire life history. I have been thrilled to the fullest capacity for the last few hours. You organized the website so well that even an idiot can find his way around.

Emnetu, I had no clue that you were involved in the political theater of our nation for such a long time. I am really proud you, to say the least. I also admire you for putting it up now without seeking any formal recognition by anyone. Please allow me to call you "The unsung Hero". You have done more than many of those in power at present time. Mind you, there are lots of individuals who had served their country in various ways and never get recognized, though they didn't do it for that. On the contrary, they get shuffled around and get baptized with new phrases and names.

Emnetu, your sets of photographs are great. I Can identify some people besides my self and father. Keshi Ezra, Tesfai Beraki, the Seare's family, and the entire Tipo teachers are few to mention. I have seen just a few sets so far.

Some of the pictures are cute and funny. Aboy and Aboy Gebrehiwot look like in a uniform in one of the oldie pictures!! I noticed that you, Eyasu and Gideon haven't changed a bit but Mussie looks a different person!!

Emnetu, again, thanks a million times for sharing. Please keep in touch. I always remember the little house you and Tsegay Dinish shared in Addis Ababa outside the main campus. I also remember the first day I met you in Addis. It was August 1965 around 4 kilo. It was my 3rd day in Addis and was so happy to meet someone I knew. Though you left Mendefera early, we had some good memories of the old times. Most of my childhood times was interwoven with Mussie. Unfortunately, our communications is very limited. Mussie and I have tons of the good, the bad and the ugly memories to share. We ought to do that before our memory declines.

Well, take care and keep your alertness alive.

Selam Emnetu,

What a webpage you have! I am amazed how organized and meticulous you are. I guess it helps to have been a librarian:-) I must have spent a minimum of four hours going through your webpage although I must admit that I did not read the all articles, press releases, projects and correspondence you had. But I had browsed through all of them, and even noticed that you were in the hospital during the liberation of Eritrea. I read that in a letter you sent to a celebration event in Norway. The sum total of all these tells me how deeply involved you were in the liberation of your country and how sad you must be now to see all the sacrifices you have made going down the drain.

Your photo gallery is something else. Believe it or not I have gone through the whole photo gallery, and saw how beautiful your wife is and how young looking you still are. And I also have seen your pictures. I was talking to Tesfai Tsehaie as I was flipping over the photo pages and I do not think he has seen as many pictures as I did.

BTW, I saw my former classmate Col. Mesfin Tesfamariam in your photo gallery. We started high school in Mekele and finished 12th grade in Kotebe. And thank you for giving me an idea of what to do with the zillions of pictures I have. That is my project when I retire, although I am not sure when I will be retiring. I am passionate about teaching and I enjoy teaching so much that I could even teach for free if there was a mandatory retirement. Lucky for me there is no mandatory retirement, and I intend to teach until I drop dead in the classroom. What is interesting about my teaching job is the amount of free time I have. For instance, this semester I am teaching one MBA course, three classes that meet once a week. As a result, I have a six-day weekend. My classes are on Tuesdays from 6 p.m. to 8:45 p.m. and on Wednesdays from 2 to 4:45 p.m. and from 6:00 to 8:45 p.m. The rest of the week I am free. And I have five months of free time, 2 months during Winter and three months during summer. Now that Semret is retired we are using our free time traveling and taking cruises. I honestly do not know what else I would do if I were to retire.

BTW, starting January 2012, we will be at Dammam University, Saudi Arabia, for a year during my sabbatical from my University. Semret intends to be a frequent visitor to her parents in Asmara. As you may know I am persona non grata in Eritrea. Having sacrificed so much for the liberation of my country it is ironic that I cannot go and visit my family there now. But hopefully we will live to see the second independence of Eritrea sooner than later.

Thanks again for introducing me to your webpage that contains so much information about you and your contributions. I am really proud of what you have done and you should justifiably be proud of yourself.

Please convey my warm greetings to your lovely wife, even if she does not know me.

With best regards.

Araya

PS: I must also tell you that I was intrigued by what you have done to improve the design of the Kebero. I learned to play the kebero in the US and there is nothing more that I enjoy than playing the kebero in every wedding ceremony we go to. I have collected so many dollars from people who admire an old professor playing the kebero so passionately. Although Tesfai will contest my statement, I am told that I am really good at it:-)

Dear Brother Emnetu! I have read the biography of Tesfazghi Calsolayo with deep interest. I thank you for the very idea of starting to write simply and briefly on people who didn't occupy the limelight, but who had won their places in the hearts of the grassroots of Eritreans.

A courageous man, a man of conviction and a man of God. My heart hurts at the thought of his wife (did he have children?) spending many a lonely day and night. And this man with Music in his heart. A source of humble joy to all Evangelical Christians and to others. What was his end like? I would have liked to read more on that subject.

A shoemaker, a labor-union man, a Christian, a singer of simple revival songs. And someone who was not afraid to be engaged in politics in the sense of taking justice seriously.

I am moved. And I want to congratulate you from the depth of my heart for your simple and effective way of writing. Give us more!

Your brother

Ezra

Dear Ato Tesfay,

I'm an Eritrean-American who was born in the states soon after natsenet. I'm very interested in history and politics, especially when it's related to Eritrea. I enjoyed your website greatly and can't wait to visit more often in between studying for my university classes.

I especially enjoyed your introduction on the biography of Ras Woldemichael Solomon. I couldn't read the actual book because I don't read Tigrinya, I only speak it. My interest was peaked in this topic because my family is from Tsezega, Eritrea and I'm always looking to read up on Tsezega's long history.

Dear Emnetu,

I have come across your website and your studies of the kebero and Embilta. I myself play the krar and chira wata and I am teaching myself to play the shambuko for the last couple of years.

I have come up with an idea of improving the chira wata using a Djembe drum. The problem with the wata is that it cannot naturally be amplified. But when you look at the chinese version of their wata called the erhu on their designs they have a design that naturally amplifies it from the back.

I have been looking for people who have the same interest of preserving our culture and also improving it. We have improved the krar over the years but the kebero and the wata and embilta and other instruments have been forgotten and sadly are slowly fading

Dear,Emnetu,

Thank you for sharing such an impressive work you have done on Kebede (Kidane) Kiflu's biography. It is an enlightenment for me, to say the least. Being familiar with Kidane's place of birth and schools he went to, I have been trying to remember some of the vivid info I used to hear from the late Ahmado Ibrahim, aka wedi vienty sei , at San Georgo, Mendefera, in 1960-62. (I was in 6th&7th grade with Ahmado) Thank you Emnetu for all your time and effort in restoring the history of our beloved heroes and heroines.

My apologies for late reply. I am so much occupied with the biography writing that it is seldom I open the facebook. I am happy to meet Eritreans interested in the traditional musical instruments. I do not think many of our compatriots are focusing on preserving or improving the old instruments but it is a very important task for our generation to focus on this matter and do something. Lets continue the contact and I would advice to use the email for communication. You can reach me through comments@emnetu.com. Looking forward to hear from you. Cheers, Emnetu	Dear Emnetu, Hopefully, you received the other feedbacks I sent you earlier. If you didn't, let me know. Regarding the family photos, they should arrive within the coming ten days. Finally, dear Emnetu, I really appreciate your hard work on behalf of my family. Your amazing skills and your passionate will to uphold goodness over the human vices is much appreciated. I wish you success in your endeavours. Once again, thanks a million. Kidane Hagos.

Dear Emnetu,

I can't tell you how much I appreciate your effort. I just did a quick read and here is my feedback.

1. His cousin's name is not Getahun. It is Getachew.
2. The date of murder is put as first March 5th 1970, second March 7th 1970, and third, on somebody else quotation, as 1969. Hence, can you please rectify the matter.
3. His education: At least one of his main studies was Law. One of his classmate's was a judge in Ethiopia, who is currently living in Atlanta. I could help you get his phone number. His name is Abraham Tesfay.
4. He did not discontinue his education, rather he was taking different courses to make sure he stays in the university for a longer period and make sure he influences the students.
5. He was about to graduate in law but the Ethiopian securities were after him around April. Thus, he had no choice but to escape. Our family members were eagerly waiting for his graduation in law. This was a widespread expectation in our family members. Engineer Yohannes, his brother, confirmed this with me last year just before he died.

6. As far as I know, when I was talking to his brother last year, he was working at Mobile not Ajip. It was a summer job and Mobile requested that he continues full time but he chose to finish his education. By then Yohannes was working, his mother was not in dire need of his help.

By the way, dear Emnetu, I'm expecting very soon the family pictures from Asmara. As soon as they arrive, I will pass them to you.

One thing before I finish, can you introduce San Georgio somewhere wherever it fits in his biography because he was a student of San Georgio.

Once again, appreciating your effort and congratulating you on putting together a meaningful document for our brother hero - Kidane Kiflu.

Emnetu, you are our hero too.

Cheers,
Kidane Hagos.

Dear, Emnetu,

I am really impressed with the excellent work you have done to produce the biography of the late Kidane Kiflu.

Kebede Kiflu was in my freshman year (1961-62) at the University College of Addis Ababa (UCAA). He was in the Science faculty and I was in the Arts faculty studying accounting and management.

Eritreans who fought for independence to the next generation. The political wisdom of our past heroes is critical to strengthen our youth as future leaders and your current efforts will play a big role in the years to come.

As it was narrated to me by individuals who were very close to Ras Tessema, he was an amazing leader who manifested typical Eritrean characteristics. He was known all over Eritrea as a man of justice, showed good sense of humility and was firm. He never hesitated to say what he believes is right and moral. Even in his first meeting with the then Emperor Haile Sellasie in 1952 at his village in Maereba ,near the Yohannes Church. He explained boldly to the Emperor why he chose to stand for Eritrean Independence. When the Emperor asked Ras Tessema why don't you like us? Ras Tessema's response was "Dear King we don't know each other, it is difficult to like or dislike you, but I love my country Eritrea as you love your country", a very logical response. Finally, Ras Tessema asked the Emperor if you could visit the Yohannes church, in response the then Emperor opened the door of his car himself, didn't wait for the body guards, jumped out of the car and walked towards the church. Eventually, despite the political differences Ras Tessema earned the respect of the Emperor.

history so he will be remembered for who he was.

On the excerpt by Saleh Gedi, although the totality of it is first class, there is one point I would like to correct and that is where he said " he had limited church education". I beg to differ with that because to my knowledge he was well versed in all our religious books as well as the psalms/ songs of St. Yared., as were all his male children. Their singing voices when they sang together I remember were beautiful to hear. His son Mergheta Gebremichael of course had the best voice of them all.

Dear Emnetu,

Good to hear from you and thanks for updating me with the new biography as well. The work you do is great! If we had a national university and if I had a say there, I would advocate for you to get honorary doctorate and professorship in recognition of your work, although I know that you are already a professor to me. I am sure you also have some names in your work-to-do list from the lowlands.

About the Tigre mezmur, it is a good development. If we had good leaders at home, they would have used it for bringing the Tigre and Tigrigna speaking religions closer.

Also, thank you for the nice pictures and videos of Dekutsna and its environs. Though I was born and raised in Mendefera, I always strived to visit my father's original birth place. I recall going there during arba'nsa once at the age of 8 or 9. That's it. Now, you have given me the motivation to go there on my next visit to Eritrea!! My father used to tell us similar stories of Aboy Blatta Kahsay. He (aboy Blatta) always stayed in our house during his Mendefera visits, according to my parents, together with his companions (guards). Windows were to be kept closed during his stays and one guard outside at most times. The mule was feed fresh grass and some barley!! As usual, job well done Emnetu.!! yohannes andemicael of a personality which everyone seems to have forgotten atleast by those who is know by in person or hear of him. I would not surprised if you were to ask Dejazmatch Misghina Almedom, who is still alive in his 90's if he knew him or met him, I suspect he may have done so as a young person working for Semunawit Gazeta Ertra, est. by BMA 1941 -1952. I am currently looking these papers at the British Library whereby they are kept in Microfilm about four bundles covering that period.

To read the coverage of news, features, history, places, obituaries, ...ect..is incredible; one thing I noticed the language, the way it is constructed which surely does not exist now. It was written in High Tigrinya.

Having skimmed through the biography perhaps the person may have been mentioned at the late 1949 edition which I will look up very carefully, and will let you know, and I am happy to send you a copy scan, which the machine could do automatically.

I am attaching for instance school closing day outside wengelawit bet-christian, you will see Keshi Tron demonstrating something and two other scans. I have not forgotten about Keshi Svenson Anders, I have not seen anything yet, I think your best bet is either Asmara, Tsegai wedi Keshi Gebreslassie or in Sweden.

Kind regards, school in Deki Tsunai must have been one of the issues because of Aboy's connections as a teacher with good links to Major Kynaston Snell and links to the SDO Commissario.

Note: When he was killed, Aboy and his Logo Chiwa friends made sure that his son, Solomon (then a teacher in Mendefera) should be confirmed as Meslene in Debaroa., which Blatta Kahsai was in line for. Please share with Gideon and Mussie as I cannot quickly find them in my list.

I hope to see you all when I visit Scandinavia again.

Selam Emnetu,

It was nice to connect with you. I have seen the draft of Aboy Blatta Kahsay Malu's bio and look forward to reading it in its final form. As I said in the phone call you are filling a big gap in revisiting the lives of Eritreans that history somehow have either ignored or remained unrecognized for their contributions. Please let me know if there is anything I can do.

Selam Emnetu,

Selam Robel. Thank you for the message. I don't think we have met before and probably you are not aware of the campaign to reinstate our forgotten heroes.

I appreciate your efforts to bring our grand father's story to the front and I am thankful for that. I have looked at the document very quickly, and I am sorry to tell you that I have a concern, please read.

There was a great amount of effort by Memhir Tekeste to write a book about my grand father and he has produced a draft which I helped to make an electronic copy. I had circulated the electronic copy of his book draft to family members for feedback. The question is, if you have access to that draft book somehow and used material from it, did you contact memhir Tekeste for permission?

I hope you understand, it was only my judgment that I shared his book draft with my family members and I will feel bad if (big if) his work was used without his permission.

Again, I thank you for your efforts.

Best,
Robel

Thank you for explaining the origin of the document and how you were involved in its circulation. I fully understand your concern, but Robel as I have stated it clearly in the biography, I was jubilant to find a testimony of a primary source which is difficult to find nowadays. I got a copy of the document from Asmara and I tried to contact memhir Tekeste without any success. The aim was simply to appreciate his work, explain to him the current campaign of writing biographies, ask him to make quotations from his work, and ask him for more information that I particularly focused on. But, unable to talk to him, I used part of the information in his document and fully quoted, property fully acknowledged and bestowed gratitude for keeping rare information.

I heard only recently a couple of weeks ago that he passed away in the U.S. and buried in Eritrea. I don't think there is more to do.

The information has to be used, we can't let it be buried.

Cheers, Emnetu

Hello writers of Emnetu.com,

My name is Luwam Thomas and I have read through some of the articles on your website and what you are doing is wonderful. It is very important to document our Eritrean biographical history of important figures and in a database for people to access at any time. Thank you for your efforts.

Dear Emnetu ,

Thanks a lot for sharing the Life of Tuke Yehdegho !

There was no culture of writing Autobiography & Biography in Eritrean history what we knew or learned was by hearing the great stories told by our elder sincere Eritreans. Yes, some Eritreans Like The Late Michael Hashema left their Memories written in a book form before he passed away but in the last years our people start to write their memoir for ex. Prof. Bereket Habte Selassie wrote his Autobiography in two Volume , The Late Dr.Seyoume Haregot etc while there are many Ethiopians who wrote their Mdemoir or others wrote theie Life history .

If we go back to the begining of 19 Century A Swedish Historian called Yohannes Kolmedin wrote , an historical book called Zanta Tseazzega & Hazegha in 1906.

I really admire & appriciate our brother Emnetu Tesfai to write the memories , biography of Our Eritrean brothers & sisters who made history in the history of Eritrea but forgotten .

Emnetu wrote , Tegadalai Tuke Yehdego `s Life, has mirrored that of our country , ever since Eritrea`s revolution, when he was a Young man. His & Eritrean`s stories , memories are dramatic , fateful , and crucial to the entire Eritrea or the Horn of Africa.

A retired , Eritrean historian offers this widely discussed , hotly disputed memoir of this Eritrean hero exploits , seizure of political power in the late 50th and transition from Hazié Haile Selassie rule to Dergue`s and from the dergue to the EPLF`s rule.

At last , I want to remember & admire Three Eritrean historians , writers who are contributing a lot to our people , the horn of africa and the rest of our World by cointributing the work of the great african men & women from our area are Emnetu Tesfai , Kassahun Chocole & Alemseghed Tesfai saying this I am NOT forgetting the great Eritrean scholars or writers in other fields like , in Economics, Sociology ,Political science , Law , Biology or medicine ...

Thank You A Lot for leting us read / know the poltical history of The Eritrean Hero , Tukue Yehdego.

Sincerely Your Little brother.

Dear Emnetu,

Thank you for the effort to present the biography of my grandfather and many other great Eritrean heroes. Under the current situation one can only hope that the young generation put a little effort to understand what those great people you wrote about were trying to do against all the odds and the price they paid for trying to lead the right way.

Memhr Tekeste Habtu was planning to write a book about my grandfather based on his own narrative but I am not sure if he did. You quoted him in the biography you wrote on my GF. I am kind of surprised how you got access on his draft, or did he write a book of some sort?

Best regards

Salam Ato Emnetu, Thanks for an unique biography of a courageous and self- sacrificing countryman, the let Ato Tukue Yehdego. You deed a great job. I found the whole biography thouching, likewise a son's letter to a father which he never met.

It is true as you pointed out that, "we eritreans do not recognize our own heroes. All we know and read is about foreign heroes." It is high time now that with great pride both read our own history and write about heroes.

My question as well as my dilemma is, who are our readers and to whom are we telling our stories?

Brother, thanks ones more for your great work.

With warm greetings,
Alazar (qeshi).

PS!

Let me send to you my own contribution with great hope that you are willing sharing it with friends.

Hi Emnetu,

First of all, kudos to you for your talents and bravery. I enjoy reading the biography researches you have completed thus far and Tukue's is no exception. Congratulations for a job well done.

As I was reading Tukue's story it reminded me of two pictures I came across on the internet that I saved from the past. I would like to share the below pictures for your use as you deem appropriate.

By the way, I was elated to read about my uncle, Paulos Sebhatu, that you included in your story. Thank you and keep up the good work!

Best regards,

Prof. Bereket in Tseggay Iyassu biography I feel particularly privileged to make a modest contribution to the volume on Tseggay Iyassu’s biography. I commend the efforts of Emnetu Tesfay, the writer of these biographical series in which Ato Tssegay is included in the latest addition. We Eritreans are endowed with a wealth of tremendous life stories of many national heroes. Unfortunately, such wealth is not accompanied by a commensurate initiative and energetic efforts to bring such stories to light. It is the reason why I accepted the challenge of making a contribution despite the time constraint and other challenges. Prof. Bereket Habtesellasi	Letter to my father Dear Dad I am so proud and grateful that you are my dad. I have learned a lot from you. I miss our conversations and your great advices. You always wanted to argue above all politics. I miss you so much I would do anything to hear your voice for one more minute. I wish your 11 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren had met you. You're gone but will not be forgotten, your story will live on. Thank you for everything you have done for us, despite the fact that we came second to the country. Thank you too for what you have done for the country. I love you so much! May your soul Rest in Peace! Many thanks to Emnetu Tesfay who has spent a great deal of time and effort so that your legacy would not be forgotten. From your beloved daughter Titi (Tiblez) Tiblez Iyassu

Amazing! Good choices of words and tone. I will call you soon. Please keep it up. I am sure that is exactly how Mezmur Selam was created by creative individuals like yourself. Girmai

All of the family members, friends and contemporaries of Ato. Tseggay that shared some of their stories with me express their admiration and gratitude to Ato. Emnetu Tesfay for investing so much energy and time to preserve some of Ato. Tseggay's life story and contributions. I too as an Eritrean add my thanks and appreciations to Ato. Emnetu for his first-rate effort to document and preserve Ato. Tseggay's and that of other notable Eritreans' contributions in the struggle for Eritrean independence and freedom, for the generations to come.

Selam Ato Emnetu,

Thank you for this and for all of your efforts to preserve part of our history as a people and as a Country for all generation to see and learn from. Well done.

From your tremendous efforts to preserve our history and educate us about notable persons in our history, you have become one of our nation's true treasures.

Thank you again and best wishes for a healthy and continued productive life.

Biography of Tseggay Iyassu

Hello Emnetu,

Yes I received your mail while in Asmara but the internet was erratic so I didn't get to type more. So I had to wait til my return in march to read the text. I have downloaded and shemed through it. Very well done. Congratulations.
